Q&A

Questions and Answers

What is Shuzi?

Shuzi is a personal energy system that helps bring your whole being into a state of balance where your body is stronger, your thoughts are clearer and your endurance levels are increased. Simply put, Shuzi just makes you feel better and harmonizes your mind and body so that you bring your best to whatever you do. Whether you are an athlete, student, parent or business executive—Shuzi will help your overall well-being.

When and where should I wear my Shuzi?

Shuzi products work with your body's own energy system so it's to your advantage to wear it all the time, even while you sleep. Tests have shown that the product is effective as long as it is close to your biofield, therefore if the product is placed around your neck, in your hand, pocket, or even in your shoe - basically anywhere close to your body - the NVT (Nano Vibrational Technology) effects will be the same. However, our theory is that there are some minor benefits to wearing it closer to the area needing the most help. For example, if you are running laps around a track, keep it in your pants pocket close to your legs. There is no hard evidence as to whether or not multiple products increase the effects, but it is definitely not harmful.

When will I feel the effects of my Shuzi?

Effects differ from person to person, ranging from subtle to very dramatic. Some feel these effects right away, whereas most will notice effects increasing through the duration of a 30-day period, at which point 80% report positive changes. Occasionally, we have customers who claim not to feel any effects. However, upon subsequent examination of these individuals, we usually find beneficial changes that have simply gone unrecognized, so even if you don't notice, Shuzi is helping you.

How is Shuzi going to help me?

Shuzi offers up many benefits, including, but not limited to, enhanced focus and concentration, greater strength and muscle endurance, greater energy, better balance, and an increase in flexibility.

Do you offer a product guarantee or warranty?

Yes. We offer a one-year warranty if your product is defective.

How close to my skin does my Shuzi have to be?

For maximum efficacy, wear your Shuzi as close as possible to your skin - no more than three inches away. The farther you go away from your body the less effective Shuzi will be.

Can I take a bath, shower or swim with my Shuzi on?

Yes. Shuzi is waterproof, and actually works best when worn all the time.

Does it ever need to be recharged?

No, because Shuzi is ultimately powered by atoms that are always moving and producing frequencies.

What is the source of Shuzi's power?

Shuzi products operate through Nano Vibrational Technology (NVT). Each piece is embedded with an NVT chip, made of a specially selected non-magnetic material, chosen for its lattice structure and atomic properties. This raw material, which must meet strict criteria including a specific size, shape and weight, then goes through a special processing sequence. A thin film deposit is applied, at which point, the programming phase takes place. This is when the NVT is actually programmed into the chip.

The programming phase uses techniques which are derived from the principles of electro migration and scalar induction to shape the material's nanostructure and form "statistical tuning circuits". The best example for statistical tuning circuits would be the ferromagnetic material, iron. Ferromagnetic material does not exhibit the properties of magnetism until it is itself magnetized by a magnetic source, meaning that the individual dipoles in the material are not aligned until it is forced by an external source such as a magnet. The strength of the retained magnetization is an effect of how many dipoles stay in the newly aligned position.

This programming creates multiple identical tuning forks that emit their own frequency. Compare one singer versus a choir singing the same note. The combination of all the identical circuits/forks creates a subtle frequency/vibrational energy, effective enough that it interacts with the biofield of humans. The NVT chip is programmed to emit not just one, but many unique frequencies chosen to be compatible with human cells.

Simply put, Shuzi products are programmed to resonate with your body's own natural frequency, providing a stronger signal to help you function more efficiently. It's like pushing a child on a swing - if you don't hit that certain tempo, you won't get the swing to go any higher. Shuzi helps you hit your stride.

What is the biofield?

The biofield, as it is called by the US National Institutes of Health (NIH), is an ensemble or matrix of different energies that extend outward from the body. A strong biofield not only supports and nourishes the body, but also strengthens a person's ability to cope with stress. A resilient and balanced biofield can be thought of as a protective force field against life's stresses. Shuzi tunes your body's biofield, allowing it to function at its optimum level.

How is Shuzi different from magnet therapy products?

Magnet therapy products claim to relieve and eliminate physical pain in a specific area of the body, while Shuzi boosts your overall mental, emotional and physical energy states at the most fundamental level of life energy.

Is there any scientific testing backing Shuzi?

FDA-Registered Medical Diagnostic equipment called Biomeridian, proves that Shuzi products (NVT technology) reduce stress in all areas of the body. We have conducted blood tests and thermal imaging to prove that Shuzi works and is not a placebo effect.

Where can I get more information about Shuzi?
